

ASTROLOGICAL TRENDS FOR JULY 2005

BIRTHDAY – Cancer

Cancerians are intuitive and emotional. Generally there is loving kindness and compassion under their serious surface but an unbalanced Cancerian can be insecure and clinging. They possess a sentimental streak and a capacity for nurturance. They can easily suffer from digestive upsets as they are worriers and run on a good deal of nervous energy.

GIVE THEM Romantic music, Roses and Lilies, a weekend by the sea and lots and lots of loving attention!

WHAT JULY HOLDS

Cancer

July can be a troubled month for you, especially with regards to communication. You should relax about it though as it is more than likely a storm in a teacup and words will be forgotten as quickly as they seem to annoy. Find some personal space and nurture the self.

Leo

Such a warm, romantic, fuzzy month.... only a few issues around communication in the last 10 days of July! Family are important now and children will require some extra attention. The full moon on the 21st can bring some positive results on the career front.

Virgo

You can be quite creative this month and should concentrate on completing any tasks you begin as they could reap unexpected rewards later! The 24th on can be frustrating and children can be problematical. It is wise to wait before making judgements then.

Libra

The first few weeks of July see you craving luxury and the finer things in life. The good news is that you will probably have ample opportunity to indulge this craving! A prosperous month and an especially prosperous full moon on the 21st!

Scorpio

There is still restlessness about you Scorpio! You require some changes in your life and the frustrating thing is that you know this but still can't seem to find an easy way to make it happen. Perhaps it's best to sit back and watch the show for now!

Sagittarius

July is all about relationships and partnerships and the emotional roller coaster that these bring! Focusing on the other person will reap better rewards than looking for what you want out of things just now. Try to understand it all from the bigger picture.

Capricorn

You are holding back and not allowing others to really know your feelings. It might just be time to let it all out in the open. You'll be surprised how receptive others can be. A major goal is very close now and the 20th-23rd is excellent for making things go your way.

Aquarius

Some unusual issues rear their head this year and July is no exception. You could question your stance on a number of important life issues. Don't be disturbed by this just go with the flow, a lot of wisdom is to be gained now.

Pisces

Major decisions should be made now. Look inside for the answers, your feelings are pretty spot on. It's a critical time for your future journey and whatever happens it will have a long-term affect. Family will play an important role.

Aries

A high-energy month. Go for simplicity in all things and you won't miss a beat! Others can be annoying and someone may even try to muscle in on your territory. Don't get too hot under the collar as it is not important, this will pass! A good time to take up a sport.

Taurus

Passions run high. Arguments may occur. Stay out of trouble by laying low and speaking when it is important! Children can bring you pleasure or at the very least you can have fun doing those things you haven't done since childhood. The final days of July are by far your best.

Gemini

Those around you might be a tad more dramatic than usual! Enjoy the show but don't take it all too seriously. Energy levels are high and you should get a lot done. Tidying up loose ends may not be high on your agenda but now is a great time for it! Don't forget to allow yourself some well earned fun afterwards!

Performance poets warm up

The best fucking poem ever written by Robin Archbold

I have in my hand The Best Fucking Poem Ever Written

And I am neither satirical nor hard-bitten
When I say that all the most famous poets of Our Time

Shakespeare, Shelley,
Keats, Browning, Plath,
Wordsworth, Scott,
Whitman, Byron, T. S.
Elliot, Coleridge, Burns, Sir
John Bloody Betjeman...to name a few
Wish that they'd written this little rhyme

This poem is so amazingly bloody sublime

*That those guys would have sawed off their right arms
Split their tongues with a razor blade*

*Cut off an ear
Swallowed barbed wire
Scalped themselves with a rusty pocketknife
Gouged out their eyeballs with a teaspoon
Committed ritual disembowelment with a 15th century samurai sword
To have written this little rhyme*

*Golly, gosh, geewhillakers, strewth...
This poem embodies every truth
Ever known about the human race
In any time, in any place*

*And I will state without favour or fear
That the Meaning Of Life is definitely in here
And it is my unswerving prophecy
That it will be the death of philosophy*

*And when it is read it will no doubt render poetry nights in cafes and pubs all over the world completely obsolete
Unfortunately my time is up
So I'll be saving this for the next Nimbin Performance Poetry World Cup
Where it will be very hard to beat*
